IN 2016, THE LGBTQ COMMUNITY WAS subjected to unprecedented attacks – from state lawmakers plotting to undermine our historic gains, to tragic, unimaginable experiences of violence, to those who pledged to roll back our rights from the highest offices in the land.

And yet, during it all, the unstoppable beat of progress towards greater equality in the places many LGBTQ Americans spend most of their daily lives – their workplaces – didn't just remain steady, it sped up.

In this 15th edition of the Corporate Equality Index we have seen the largest increase in top-rated businesses in the history of our survey with 515 employers earning perfect 100 percent scores. In addition, this year saw the CEI's largest jump ever in businesses offering transgender-inclusive healthcare coverage – from 511 last year to 647 this year.

These businesses know that LGBTQ equality isn't just the right thing to do, it makes them stronger in our global economy. Ensuring fairness in the workplace is a value and increasingly a policy norm, and not just in the U.S. Now, more than 90 percent of CEI-rated businesses have embraced both sexual orientation and gender identity employment protections for their U.S. and global operations.

This past year, as an unprecedented wave of anti-LGBTQ bills spread across the country, corporate champions state to state – from South Dakota and Mississippi, and North Carolina and Georgia – made their voices heard and stood firmly on the side of fairness and equality.

The story behind this groundswell of public support for equality began within each business's efforts to recognize their own LGBTQ employees and adopt inclusive policies, benefits and practices. With every policy change and discussion of transgender-inclusive benefits, for example, an employee saw a path to bringing their full self to work, an executive could put a human face to the need for full equality and an ally could proudly display a show of support for their LGBTQ colleagues and friends.

The nation's largest employers have demonstrated through their actions that LGBTQ people are not just tolerated, but welcomed in their workplaces and communities. Even with all of this progress, we know that policies and benefits make up the crucial foundation, but not the totality, of what's needed to ensure that LGBTQ workers can thrive from the plant floor to the corner office.

Today, marriage equality and hate crimes protections are the law of the land. Barriers to LGBTQ service in the armed forces have been lifted. But the lack of consistent, explicit federal protections in employment, housing, credit, public services and other essential aspects of American life remain major barriers to full equality for the LGBTQ community.

While there is much to do and many key civil rights fights ahead, thanks to these private sector leaders, the march towards greater equality is not slowing down. The LGBTQ community and the 887 businesses in the CEI will keep moving forward every day.

Sincerely,

Chad Griffin, President
Human Rights Campaign Foundation

Executive Summary

Corporate Equality Index 2017

IN THIS 15TH EDITION OF THE HUMAN

Rights Campaign's Corporate Equality Index, a record 515 employers earned a top rating of 100 percent. This is the largest jump in top-rated businesses in a single year in the entire history of the CEI. The CEI catalyzes change by appealing to businesses' competitive nature: behind every top rated business in the 2016 report, numerous peers were spurred to catch up in the 2017 CEI.

The CEI criteria reflect leading policies, benefits and practices for the LGBT workforce and their families. The criteria are premised on the notion of parity rather than prescription. In other words, HRC promotes the adoption of LGBT-specific language into existing corporate practices (e.g. ensuring that existing health care coverage affords coverage for routine and chronic care of transgender individuals as well as transition-related medical coverage). By using the CEI as a guide, businesses can ensure that their existing policy and benefit infrastructure is inclusive of the LGBT workforce and their families, resulting in greater recruitment and retention of a talented, diverse workforce.

The most significant progress in the CEI has been the wide-scale adoption of transgender-inclusive initiatives across businesses.

- A full 82 percent of the Fortune 500 have gender identity protections enumerated in their non-discrimination policies and 96 percent of the entire CEI universe of businesses offer explicit gender identity non-discrimination protections in the U.S.
- Fifty percent of the Fortune 500 and nearly three-fourths (73 percent) of the CEI universe of businesses offer transgender-inclusive health care coverage, up from 0 in 2002 and over six times as many businesses as five years ago. With 136 new employers offering this coverage in the 2017 report, this represents the greatest increase in a single year of employers offering transgender-inclusive health care benefits.

- A majority of CEI-rated businesses (86 percent) offer education and training programs that specifically include definitions and/ or scenarios on gender identity in the workplace; and,
- Nearly four-hundred (387) major businesses have adopted gender transition guidelines for employees and their teams to establish best practices in transgender inclusion.

These reflect low-cost, high yield investments in major businesses' talent as well as in their broader profile as forward-looking, responsible businesses. Top-rated CEI employers span nearly every industry and major geography of the United States. Of the employers in the CEI with global operations (57 percent), a strong majority (98 percent) has extended sexual orientation and gender identity-based workplace protections throughout their international operations.

In addition to the depth of investment the top-rated businesses have made in the name of equality, the 2017 CEI shows an unprecedented breadth of brand new businesses. This year's CEI contains an impressive 72 new businesses that opted into the survey. A grand total of 5,228 major brands fall under rated CEI businesses.

The following report is reflective of primarily verified data submitted to the HRC Foundation as well as independent research on non-responding businesses. Wherever credit can be verified, all ranked businesses will receive it, irrespective of their participation in the CEI survey.

The HRC Foundation has worked with hundreds of businesses to promote workplace equality for LGBT workers.

The most significant progress in the CEI has been the wide-scale adoption of transgender-inclusive initiatives across businesses.

In the first year of the CEI a decade ago, 13 businesses achieved a top score of 100 percent.

This year, a record 515 businesses achieved a top rating of 100 percent.

Equality at the Fortune-Ranked Companies

A record 327 of the Fortune 500-ranked businesses have official CEI ratings based on submitted surveys (as compared to 321 last year), with an average rating of 91 compared to 87 last year. The Fortune 500 list has been invited each year since 2002.

199 of the Fortune 500-ranked businesses achieved a 100 percent rating (compared to 151 last year), with 12 of the top 20 Fortune-ranked businesses at this top score. Ninety-two percent of the Fortune 500 include "sexual orientation" in their non-discrimination policies and 82 percent include "gender identity." For the first time, half of Fortune 500 companies offer transgender-inclusive health care benefits, including surgical procedures.

Fortune 1000 list of the largest publicly traded companies was invited to take part in the Corporate Equality Index survey for the seventh year in a row.

2017 Corporate Equality Index Rating System and Methodology

The HRC Foundation Corporate Equality Index criteria serve as a road map for major U.S. businesses' adoption of inclusive policies, practices and benefits for LGBT employees. Launched in 2002, the CEI is the nationally recognized benchmarking report for businesses to gauge their level of LGBT workplace inclusion against competitors.

In addition to growing the number of highly-rated employers, the CEI has seen success in the reach of the survey. The number of employers rated from the first CEI to the present has expanded from 319 to 887, encompassing all major industry sectors and geographic regions of the U.S.

What Businesses Are Rated

The largest and most successful U.S. employers are invited to participate in the CEI and are identified through the following lists:

- Fortune magazine's 1,000 largest publicly traded businesses (2015 Fortune 1000) and
- American Lawyer magazine's top 200 revenue-grossing law firms (2015 AmLaw 200).

Additionally, any private-sector, for-profit employer with 500 or more full-time U.S. employees can request to participate.

How We Obtain the Information

The primary source of information for the Corporate Equality Index rating each business receives is the CEI survey sent every year to previous and prospective respondents.

Invitations for the CEI 2017 survey were mailed in late April 2016 and due back August 2016. If a business had not previously participated in the CEI, surveys were sent to the chief executive officer or managing partner of the firm, as well as the highest-level executive responsible for human resources or diversity when it was possible to obtain their contact information. If a business had previously participated in the CEI, surveys were first sent to the individuals responsible for prior submissions.

The web-based survey included links to sample policies and other guidance on the HRC Foundation website. While many questions on the survey are required for participation in the CEI, others are informational questions that gauge trends and best practices among all businesses or particular industries. HRC Foundation staff provided additional assistance and advice throughout the process and reviewed submitted documentation for appropriate language and consistency with survey answers. Businesses were able to check their preliminary ratings as they progressed through the online survey and were invited to provide HRC Foundation staff with any additional information or updates before this report went to print.

The information required to generate CEI ratings for businesses is largely considered proprietary and is difficult to ascertain from public records alone. In addition to the self-reporting provided through the CEI survey, the HRC Foundation employs several methods to assess business practices. A team of researchers investigates and cross-checks the policies and practices of the rated businesses and the implications of those policies and practices for LGBT workers, including any connections with organizations that engage in anti-LGBT activities. Employers are not rated until all appropriate information has been gathered and verified to the extent possible.

In total, the sources used include:

- The HRC Foundation's CEI survey;
- Internal Revenue Service 990 tax filings for business foundations' gifts to anti-LGBT groups;
- Case law and news accounts for allegations of discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation and/or gender identity or expression that have been brought against any of these businesses;
- Individuals or unofficial LGBT employee groups that report information to the HRC Foundation; and
- The HRC Foundation Workplace Project, which since 1995 has collected information on U.S. employers and today maintains the most accurate and extensive database of business policies that affect LGBT workers and their families.

If a business was found to have a connection with an anti-LGBT organization or activity, the HRC Foundation contacted the business and provided an opportunity to respond and ensure, to the best of its ability, that no such action would occur in the future. Businesses unwilling to do so are penalized 25 points from their overall rating through Criterion 5.

Official and Unofficial Ratings

The HRC Foundation may rate businesses that have not submitted a survey this year if the business had submitted a survey in previous years and the information is determined to be accurate, or if the HRC Foundation has obtained sufficient information to provide an individual rating. In both cases, the HRC Foundation notifies the business of the official rating and asks for any updates or clarification.

A total number of 2,106 received invitations to take part in the survey.

- Of that number, 750 submitted surveys, and 887 were officially rated. Last year, a total of 1,938 businesses were sent invitations, 676 submitted surveys and 845 were rated.
- Seventy-two businesses participated for the first time this year, increasing the total number of rated businesses.

The HRC Foundation has spotlighted those Fortune 500 companies that, after repeated invitations, have never responded to the annual CEI survey. These 156 Fortune 500 companies are noted in gray in Appendix B and C along as unofficial CEI ratings. The driver to participate in the CEI survey process is transparency. The goal in reporting out what is publicly available as unofficial ratings is to highlight the level of uncertainty that a prospective LGBT employee faces when looking for an employer. Our staff and researchers put on the hat as a prospective employee, ascertaining what we can from gather from publicly available information about the policies and benefits that would most impact and LGBT employee and their family, and applying those findings to our CEI criteria. Actively participating in the CEI survey takes the guesswork out of what an employee can expect from an employer when it comes to the tangible fears and concerns LGBT employees can face in the workplace.

HRC Foundation commends those employers that have committed to work toward equality through the public and transparent process of the CEI survey and we invite these 156 companies to do the same.

In total, the CEI 2017 officially rates 327 Fortune 500 businesses, 102 Fortune 1000 businesses, 156 law firms and 302 additional major businesses. An additional 156 Fortune 500 businesses have unofficial ratings, bringing the total to 1,043 rated businesses.

Findings in the following sections are based on the 887 officially rated businesses.

How Ratings Are Used

The CEI is the primary source of data for two key HRC Foundation resources aimed at LGBT and allied consumers, employees, shareholders and prospective employees. They are:

- HRC Foundation Employer Search, a free online database of thousands of private and public sector U.S. employers available at www.hrc.org/employersearch.
- Buying for Workplace Equality 2017, a consumer-oriented guide based on CEI ratings, available at www.hrc.org/buyersguide. Coinciding with the start of the winter holiday and shopping season, the guide is distributed via print, online and smartphone applications to thousands of LGBT consumers — estimated to have a cumulative spending power of $917 billion, according to Witeck Communications market research. This accessible reference has given over 1 million consumers easy access to the CEI ratings corresponding to recognizable consumer brands.▶

'BEST PLACES TO WORK'

Businesses that achieve a rating of 100 percent in this report are recognized as "Best Places to Work for LGBT Equality" and are welcome to use this distinction in their recruitment and marketing efforts.

The Evolution of the Criteria

The HRC Foundation is committed to maintaining a rigorous, fair, attainable and transparent CEI rating system.

Apart from the survey process itself, HRC Foundation staff work year-round to develop tools for employers to meet the criteria through online resources and direct consultation. Resources for each of the criteria are available at www.hrc.org/workplace.

The HRC Foundation continually examines the criteria and gathers input to guide the future of the criteria. Changes to the CEI criteria are necessary to account for:

1. The changing landscape of legal protections for LGBT employees and their families, both federally and from state to state, and
2. Emerging best practices to meet the needs of LGBT employees and ensure that LGBT employees are treated fairly in the workplace.

The HRC Foundation is committed to providing at least 12 months' advance notice of any criteria changes.

History of CEI Criteria Changes

	2002	2004	2009	2014
	The first CEI rated employers strictly on seven criteria that remain the basis for today's scoring system. The original criteria were guided in part by the Equality Principles, 10 touch points for businesses demonstrating their commitment to equal treatment of employees, consumers and investors, irrespective of their sexual orientation and gender identity or expression. 	The HRC Foundation released the second version of the criteria, with greater weight given to comprehensive domestic partner benefits and to transgender-inclusive health care coverage options. These criteria went into effect in 2006 and remained in effect through 2010 (for the CEI 2011 report). 	The HRC Foundation announced the third version of the criteria, with comprehensive requirements for partner benefits, transgender-inclusive benefits, organizational competency on LGBT issues and employers' public commitment to equality for the broader LGBT community. These criteria went into effect in 2011 (for the CEI 2012 report). 	The HRC Foundation announced new criteria requirements in place for the 2017 CEI. All of the changes stem from one guiding principle: that discrimination has no place in a top-rated CEI business. For a 100 percent in the 2017 Corporate Equality Index report, businesses must: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>● Have sexual orientation and gender identity non-discrimination protections explicitly included in all of its operations, both within the U.S. and global operations.</li> <li>● Require U.S. contractors to abide by companies' existing inclusive non-discrimination policy.</li> <li>● Implement internal requirements prohibiting U.S. company/law firm philanthropic giving to nonreligious organizations that have a written policy of discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation and gender identity.</li> </ul>

In keeping with the tenets outlined on the previous page, the following criteria go into effect in two years. HRC will be conducting intensive education and outreach to ensure the success of CEI participants under the future 2019 criteria.

Domestic Partner Benefits:
The Parity Principle

Criteria Changes and Clarifications for 2019 CEI

Since 2002, the CEI has required parity between spousal and partner benefits. After the United States v. Windsor and Obergefell v. Hodges Supreme Court rulings, HRC released a position paper cautioning against exposing LGBT employees to legal risks by switching to a marriage-only standard.

After the 2015 U.S. Supreme Court decision in Obergefell v. Hodges, ruling that marriage is a fundamental right to which same-sex couples should have the same access as opposite-sex couples, bringing marriage equality nationwide, employers have sought to do the right thing in the name of equality. While marriage equality is undoubtedly a monumental step towards full equality, LGBT individuals remain at risk for discrimination in many other walks of life.

LGBT Americans can get legally married but remain at risk of being denied services for who they are or risk being fired simply for getting married and wearing their wedding ring to the office the next day. Lacking protections based on sexual orientation and gender identity through federal and consistent state law, it remains legal to discriminate against LGBT individuals in employment, housing, and access to public places, federal funding, credit, education and jury service. Until LGBT Americans have full equality through the Equality Act, the CEI standards will continue to fill the void left by federal and state law, better serving the U.S. workforce.

While HRC never changed its partner benefits mandate, a small number of companies moved to marriage only in the middle of the 2016 CEI season. These employers assumed that with the marriage ruling, the need for partner benefits was gone. This is not true and in fact, over the last decade most businesses that have offered same-sex partner benefits also extended these to opposite-sex partners to better meet the needs of their own diverse workforces. In other words, businesses have been decoupling benefits from the legal definition of marriage. Out of an abundance of understanding for our companies, we are accepting spousal equivalent benefits until the 2019 CEI, while ramping up our outreach efforts.

In the spirit of parity and partnership with our CEI participants, employers must offer both same- and opposite-sex partner benefits for a 100% in the 2019 Corporate Equality Index. The CEI continues to look beyond the law to actual best practices for LGBT workers and their families.

For CEI 2017 (calendar year 2016) and CEI 2018 (calendar year 2017):

- Companies with full parity of benefits between same- and opposite-sex spouses or between same- and opposite-sex domestic partners will receive full credit of 10 points.
  - Companies with spousal benefits only will receive full credit provided the definition of "spouse" in contracts and benefit paperwork is demonstrably inclusive of both same- and opposite-sex spouses.

Starting with CEI 2019 (calendar year 2018):

- Barring any change to federal law allowing for full non-discrimination protections for LGBT people, full parity of benefits requires access to benefits for same- and opposite-sex spouses as well as for same- and opposite-sex domestic partners.
  - To account for full family diversity, same-sex spousal benefits AND same- and opposite-sex domestic partner benefits will be necessary to achieve full credit of 10 points. (In essence we are giving companies a grace period to return to the original CEI mandate of partner benefits).

Transgender-Inclusive Benefits

Removal of all Exclusions and Affirming Comprehensive Coverage

To date, HRC, through our work in the Corporate Equality Index, has required private employers to mitigate exclusions for transition-related care in insurance documents, while also affirming care for transition-related benefits to earn the designation of "Best Places to Work for LGBT Equality." Federal law now bans (under the Affordable Care Act and with the clarification of Section 1557) sex discrimination in health programs. HRC's legal analysis is that mandates related to transgender healthcare coverage are ones in which any procedure offered to a cisgender individual must also be offered for a transgender or transitioning individual without exclusion. Understanding that the insurance market is evolving, businesses may be placing themselves at legal risk if they continue benefits plans containing transgender exclusions, even if riders or other plans affirm transition-related care or coverage for transgender individuals elsewhere.

For CEI 2017 (calendar year 2016) and CEI 2018 (calendar year 2017):

10 points for equal health coverage for transgender individuals in at least one firm-wide available plan without exclusion for medically necessary care that meets the following baseline criteria:

- Insurance contract explicitly affirms coverage
- Plan documentation is readily available to employees and clearly communicates inclusive insurance options to employees and their eligible dependents
- Benefits available to other employees must extend to transgender individuals. Where available for employees, the following benefits should all extend to transgender individuals, including for services related to transgender transition (e.g., medically necessary services related to sex reassignment):
  - Short term medical leave
  - Mental health benefits
  - Pharmaceutical coverage (e.g., for hormone replacement therapies)
  - Coverage for medical visits or laboratory services
  - Coverage for reconstructive surgical procedures related to sex reassignment

Eliminates Other Barriers to Coverage:

- No separate dollar maximums or deductibles limited to coverage of sex reassignment surgeries and related procedures.
- Explicit adequacy of network provisions apply. When the provider network has no adequate specialists (as determined by qualified area specialists), out-of-network providers will be covered at in-network rates, as well as coverage of travel and lodging expenses to such specialists.
- No other serious limitations. On a case by case basis, other serious limitations to coverage may be deemed sufficiently counterproductive to treatment success to disqualify a given plan from eligibility. Two examples: a) limitations on the time frame for, or number of, surgeries per individual would eliminate a plan from consideration (e.g., no "one surgery only" or "initial surgery" limitations); b) Similarly, exclusions for reversals of sex reassignment would also be regarded as unacceptable limits to coverage.

Starting with CEI 2019 (calendar year 2018):

Any blanket exclusions for transition related care must be eliminated in all health care plans (i.e. conform with the law) AND Explicit affirmation of coverage adhering to the criteria above (since 2012 CEI) is required retain the full 10 points (i.e. we are maintaining the existing standard)

Supplier Diversity
Aligning LGBT
with Other Diverse
Business Segments

Supplier diversity programs ensure that the procurement process includes specific opportunities for minority-owned businesses, including women-owned, veteran-owned and, more recently, LGBT-owned businesses. Supplier diversity initiatives have existed in the business community for at least three decades, going back to the inception of such groups as the National Association of Women Business Owners and the National Minority Business Council, both founded in the early 1970s to promote the inclusion of these under-utilized entrepreneurial groups. Furthermore, there are federal initiatives such as the Center for Veterans Enterprise that is designed to assist U.S. veterans in launching and thriving in private business. These initiatives intend to give more equitable opportunities to those would-be small business owners who are more likely to face social and practical barriers to success.

The National Gay and Lesbian Chamber of Commerce began certifying LGBT-owned small businesses in 2002, a process that requires substantiation of majority LGBT ownership in a business and verification of a business' good standing in the community. Supplier diversity initiatives are a win-win relationship for both the LGBT-owned small businesses and the businesses that contract them. By courting LGBT-owned businesses, over one-third of this year's rated companies and law firms demonstrated their commitment to LGBT inclusion and now reap the benefits of working with businesses in the diverse communities in which they operate. While the CEI criteria will not prescribe the addition of a supplier diversity program nor NGLCC membership, it is seen as a best practice by many leading companies with world-class supplier diversity programs.

- Participants will continue earning credit for having an LGBT supplier diversity program as one of their three efforts to earn 10 points under Public Engagement.

Starting with CEI 2019 (calendar year 2018):

- Participants with a supplier diversity program must include LGBT suppliers in their outreach efforts to maintain full credit in this section. Participants with a supplier diversity program that does not include LGBT diversity will lose 5 points under Public Engagement.
  - Participants need not be NGLCC partners, but must have outreach to LGBT-owned businesses if seeking credit in this category.

Non-Discrimination Policies

The most foundational step for a business to become more inclusive of LGBT employees is the implementation of an affirmative equal opportunity/ non-discrimination policy that specifically covers sexual orientation and gender identity as protected characteristics with regard to employment decisions (namely hiring, firing and promotional practices).

Federal laws clearly and consistently afford protections from workplace discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex (including pregnancy), national origin, age (40 or older), disability and genetic information but do not afford these same protections on the basis of sexual orientation or gender identity.

Currently, the Federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission is accepting complaints of sexual orientation and gender identity discrimination in employment based on Title VII's prohibition against sex discrimination. In addition, some states have passed laws and ordinances to establish workplace protections for lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender employees, but only 20 states explicitly provide workplace protections on the basis of gender identity and 22 on the basis of sexual orientation.

Despite this patchwork of state laws and federal guidance, private sector employers have far outpaced lawmakers in the implementation of fully inclusive non-discrimination policies.

Sexual Orientation Protections

Criterion 1a

Businesses That Prohibit Discrimination Based on Sexual Orientation in U.S. and Global Operations

93% of CEI rated employers provide employment protections on the basis of sexual orientation in the U.S. and globally.

Gender Identity Protections

Criterion 1b

Businesses That Prohibit Discrimination Based on Gender Identity in U.S. and Global Operations

92% of CEI rated employers provide employment protections on the basis of gender identity in the U.S. and globally.

This criterion has seen the most rapid growth of any other element of the CEI. In 2002, just 5 percent of the rated businesses included gender identity in their U.S. non-discrimination policies and every year that figure has climbed to today's strong majority with these protections in place. Ninety-six percent of participants have gender identity protections in their U.S. policy, a 90 point increase since the CEI's inception.

Global Non-Discrimination Policies and Codes of Conduct

of CEI-rated employers have operations outside of the United States.

98%

of global CEI businesses have fully inclusive, globally applicable non-discrimination policies and/or codes of conduct.

The majority of businesses surveyed on the CEI – 57 percent of rated employers – have operations outside of the United States. Whether an employee is being relocated internationally, or merely traveling internationally on business for a finite period of time, the non-discrimination protections that they are afforded by their CEI-rated U.S. employer must be portable. Sexual orientation and gender identity protections must be consistently upheld either by global company policy, or must be ensured by the operating U.S. entity in a global partnership sponsoring the traveling employee.

of global CEI businesses have fully inclusive, globally applicable non-discrimination policies and/or codes of conduct.

Findings	U.S. Contractor and Vendor Standards
Criterion 1c	Businesses That Prohibit Discrimination Based on Sexual Orientation and Gender Identity in their Contractor/Vendor standards

of CEI-rated employers require that their suppliers abide by a non-discrimination policy that is inclusive of sexual orientation and gender identity

A business typically relies on other businesses for goods or services, and businesses of the size included in the CEI typically have set standards and guidelines already embedded in their procurement. In order to ensure that suppliers act in a manner that adheres to a business' own standards, it is necessary for businesses to establish standards of conduct that set expectations for behavior of their suppliers. Where supplier mandates currently exist with respect to non-discrimination, these mandates must explicitly include sexual orientation and gender identity alongside other named categories. This ensures consistency in the corporate policies and values of non-discrimination between the employer and its contractors – those it decides to reward with its business. In addition, many worksites have employees from different businesses working side by side. This change makes the expectations and policies in the workplace more consistent.

of CEI-rated employers have U.S. supplier non-discrimination standards that include sexual orientation and gender identity.

Equal Benefits

Competitive employer-provided benefits' packages are critical to attracting and retaining talent. From health care coverage to retirement investments and more, ensuring LGBT-inclusive benefits to employees and their families is an overall low-cost, high-return proposition for businesses. Most employers report an overall increase of less than 1 percent of total benefits costs when they implement partner benefits and marginal increases related to transgender-inclusive health care coverage (i.e. a fraction of a decimal point of cost calculations).

In addition, equitable benefits structures align with the principle of equal compensation for equal work. Apart from actual wages paid, benefits account, on average for approximately 30 percent of employees' overall compensation (BOL 2015). Therefore, employers have amended many benefits structures to ensure that this valuable bundle of benefits is equitably extended to their workforce, irrespective of sexual orientation and gender identity.

When denied equal benefits coverage, the cost to LGBT workers and their families is profound. The HRC Foundation rates and gives guidance on two key components of equal health insurance benefits:

- Parity between benefits available for opposite-sex spouses and same-sex partners/ spouses and
- Transgender-inclusive health insurance coverage of medically necessary treatment and care

In addition, employers are rated on having full parity across their entire suite of benefits - including non-healthcare benefits such as leave, retirement and others - between opposite-sex spouses and same-sex partners/spouses.

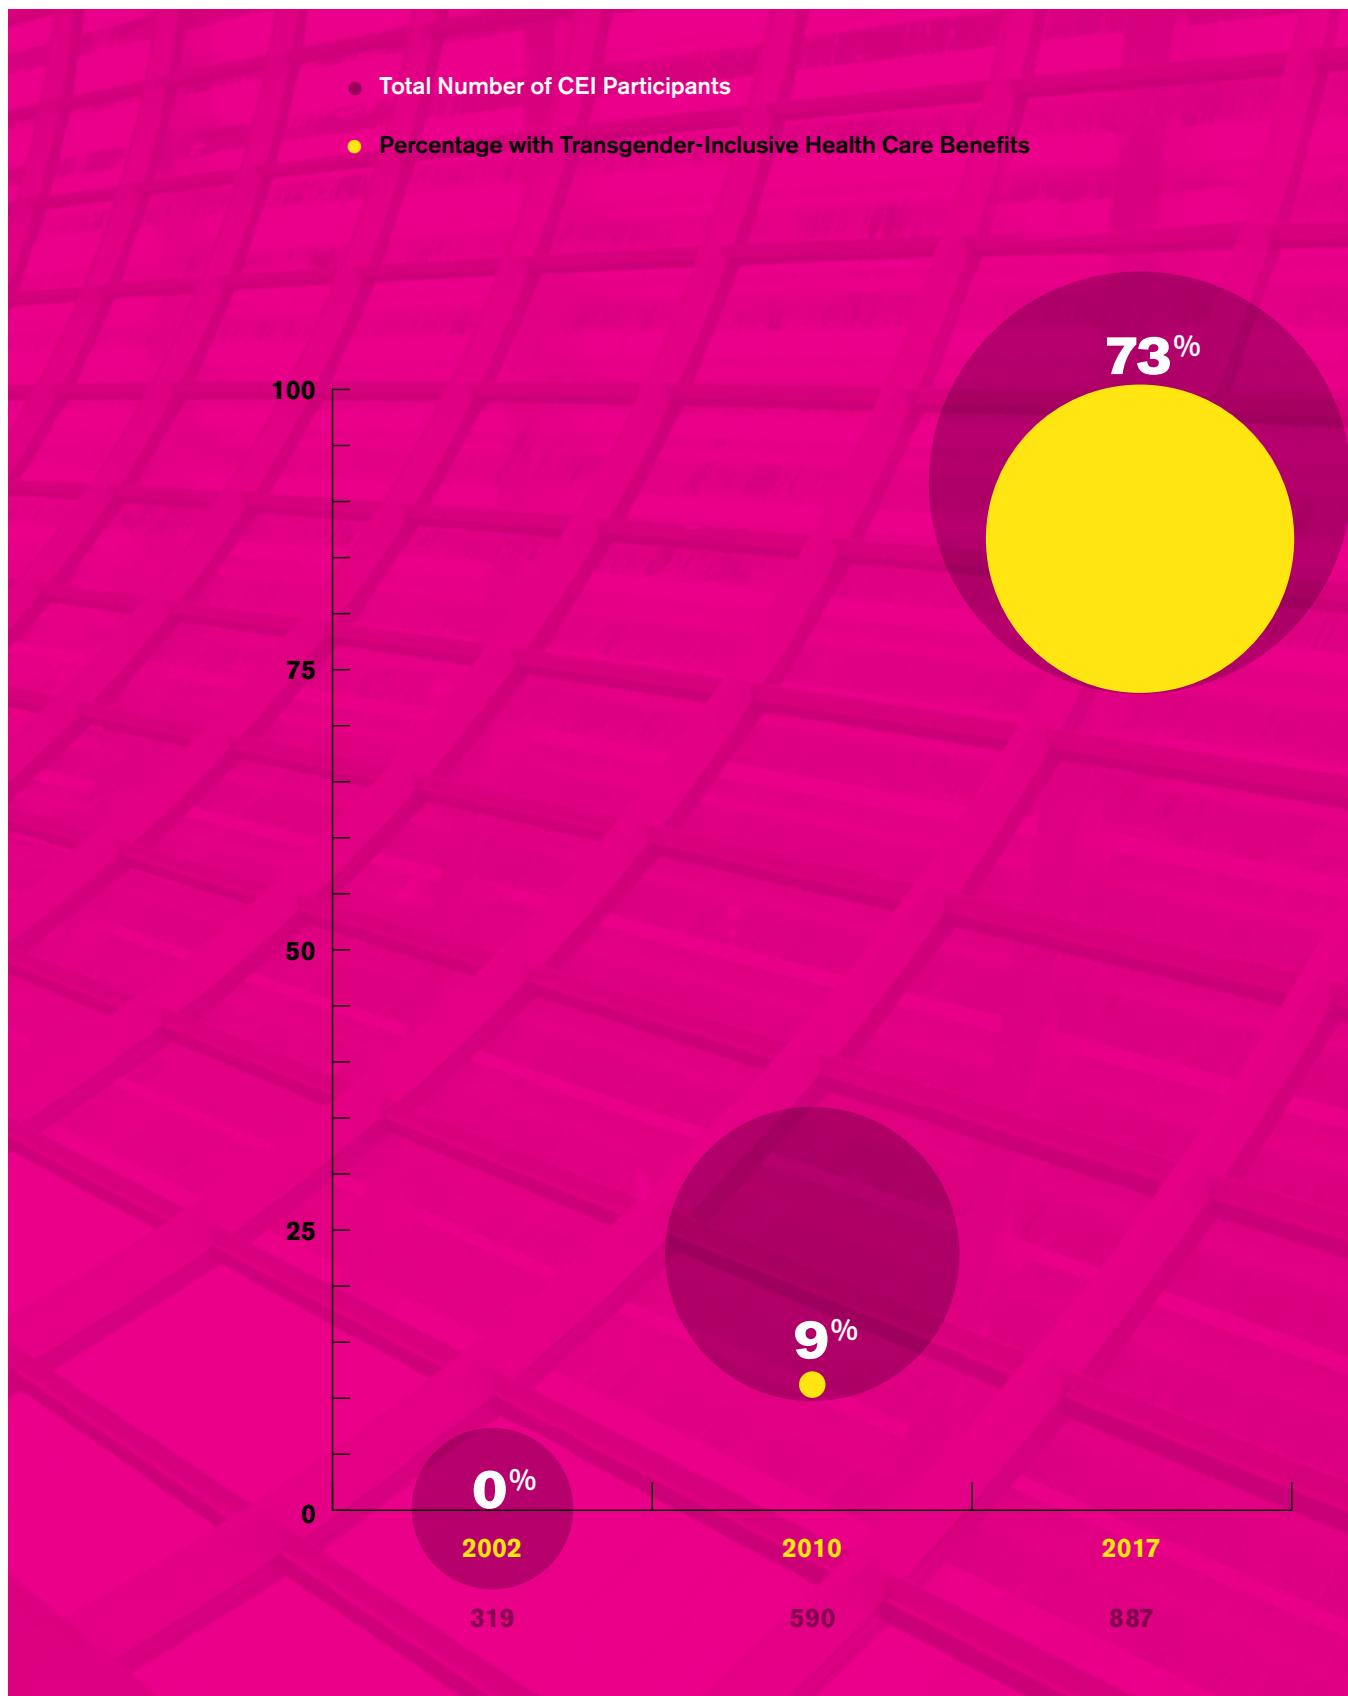

The premise of parity drives businesses meeting the partner benefits and transgender-inclusive health care coverage criteria. In its CEI scoring, the HRC Foundation does not penalize an employer if a particular benefit is not offered to any employees, but holds employers accountable to provide equitable benefits to LGBT employees and their families across the complete package of benefits offered.

In other words, all of the benefits extended to employees with a partner or spouse of an opposite sex are equally extended to same-sex partners and spouses. Similarly where routine care, hormone therapies and medically necessary surgeries and procedures are available to cisgender (people who are not transgender), these same health care benefits are equally extended to transgender plan enrollees. Many employers have begun to comprehensively address health insurance coverage for transgender individuals, and most have experienced little to no premium increases as a result.

Findings	Equal Benefits
Equivalent same-sex spousal and/or same-sex partner benefits	In 2015, the United States Supreme Court determined in Obergefell v. Hodges that same-sex couples have a Constitutional right to marry nationwide. Since then corporations that previously implemented employee domestic partner benefits have been faced with the questions of whether these benefits and protections should continue to be offered as well as what their obligations are under the law. Any business that provides benefits based on marriage to an employee's opposite-sex spouse must now provide marital benefits to an employee's same-sex spouse as marital benefits. While there is no legal obligation to provide domestic partner benefits, as a matter of fairness and equal compensation businesses should not only retain their domestic partner benefits policies, but should expand them (where applicable) to include all couples—same- and opposite-sex—and their families.
Transgender-Inclusive Health Care Benefits	Until recently, virtually all commercially available insurance plans contained so-called "transgender exclusions" that barred coverage for routine, chronic and transition-related services. In 2004 the HRC Foundation identified transgender-inclusive health care coverage as an area of educational outreach and criteria inclusion. From 2006 through the 2011 CEI, a top score meant businesses needed to mitigate at least one exclusion among five critical categories of transgender health care, namely: mental health; pharmacy benefits for hormone therapy; medical visits and lab procedures related to hormone therapy; surgical procedures; and, short-term leave for surgical procedures. While awareness of barriers to transgender health care coverage steadily increased, a majority of CEI-rated businesses plateaued in offering mental health care coverage and/ or short-term leave for surgical procedures but did not mitigate the exclusions related to other medically necessary treatments. In 2009 the HRC Foundation announced a major change to what would be the 2012 CEI criteria: to earn a top rating of 100 percent, a business needed to not just mitigate one or more exclusions, but address the root problem of transgender exclusion in coverage and fully affirm health care coverage for medically necessary transition-related care and other routine and chronic conditions. The HRC Foundation embarked on a massive campaign of educational and consultative efforts to address health care and insurance disparities for the transgender population and their families, including: outreach to leading health insurance companies; direct consultation with both fully and self-insured employers to modify their health care plans and collection and dissemination of cost and utilization data from leading businesses. The HRC Foundation has, in partnership with hundreds of major businesses taking part in the CEI, led great change in employer-provided health insurance coverage for transgender people. However, much work remains to change the market standard for coverage to more comprehensively cover the full range of medically necessary treatments that may be part of a gender transition. The HRC Foundation is working with employers and insurance providers to further build out a next generation of best-in-class coverage for future CEIs. In this year's CEI, a record 647 (73 percent) of CEI-rated businesses offer at least one plan option with current market standard coverage, up from 0 in 2002, 49 in the 2009 CEI report, 85 in the 2011 CEI report, 278 in the 2013 CEI report, 336 in 2014 CEI report, 418 in the 2015 CEI report, and 511 in last year's 2016 CEI report.

	This year represents the greatest increase in transgender-inclusive health care coverage – an additional 136 participants – between any two consecutive CEI reports. The second-greatest increase was when this requirement to earn 100 went into effect, when 121 additional participants earned credit between the 2011 CEI report and 2012 CEI report (85 to 206 total participants with coverage).
Criterion 2c	Businesses That Offer at Least One Transgender-Inclusive Health Care Plan 73% of this year's rated businesses afford transgender-inclusive health care coverage options through at least one firm-wide plan. This coverage includes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>● short-term leave,</li><li>● counseling by a mental health professional,</li><li>● hormone therapy,</li><li>● medical visits to monitor hormone therapy and</li><li>● surgical procedures</li></ul> These benefits are critical for the health and well-being of individual transgender people. According to businesses' reporting to the HRC Foundation, making these benefits accessible comes at an overall negligible cost to the employers' overall health insurance plans. This holds true across industries.

Organizational Competency in LGBT Inclusion

Criterion 3a

Competency Training, Metrics, Resources or Accountability Measures

of CEI-rated employers offer a robust set of practices (at least three efforts) to support organizational LGBT diversity competency.

Equitable policies and benefits are critical to LGBT inclusion in the workforce but alone are not sufficient to support a truly inclusive culture within a workplace. Employers recognize that beyond the letter of a policy, additional programming and educational efforts are necessary.

Some of the most common forms of LGBT inclusion efforts are: diversity training programs, LGBT metrics and evaluation mechanisms and gender transition guidelines. Many employers integrate these educational programs into already existing diversity and inclusion programs. To obtain full credit in this criterion, employers must show at least three types of organizational competency programming. This comprehensive metric is provided as accountability for employers to devote resources to creating and maintaining a climate of inclusion.

In light of policy and benefits expansion, the HRC Foundation has rolled out a number of studies and resources aimed at making the policies and benefits part of an everyday workplace practice of LGBT inclusion. Our latest such publication is Transgender Inclusion In the Workplace: A Toolkit for Employers, a comprehensive resource to guide employer transgender inclusion efforts. The toolkit includes HRC's best practice guidance on transgender inclusive policies and practices (including sample policies) as well as guidance for implementing transgender-inclusive healthcare benefits. Addressing the gap in training and education materials, the toolkit includes scenario-based learning that uses real life examples from HRC's work with businesses to illuminate the everyday experiences of transgender workers on the job.

This resource and additional materials that help employers close the gap between inclusive policy and practice can be found at <http://hrc.im/workplaceclimate>.

Findings

Organizational Competency in LGBT Inclusion

Gender Transition Guidelines

Having easily understandable and accessible guidelines on the gender transition process is a best practice in setting forth some structure to support a respectful and successful workplace transition. The guidelines are aimed at establishing common reference points and expectations for all involved, including the transitioning employee, HR, management and work groups, to further everyone's goal of a respectful transition process that retains the employee and individual engagement.

A record 382 major employers submitted gender transition guidelines – the vast majority of which were adopted from the HRC Foundation's template guidelines (available at www.hrc.org/workplace).

From suggestions on how to have respectful and informative conversations about the topic of transgender inclusion in the workplace to the administrative changes to one's personnel and workplace documents, these guidelines clearly delineate responsibilities and expectations of transitioning employees, their supervisors, colleagues and other staff.

Diversity Training and Educational Programs

86% of businesses have inclusive diversity training.

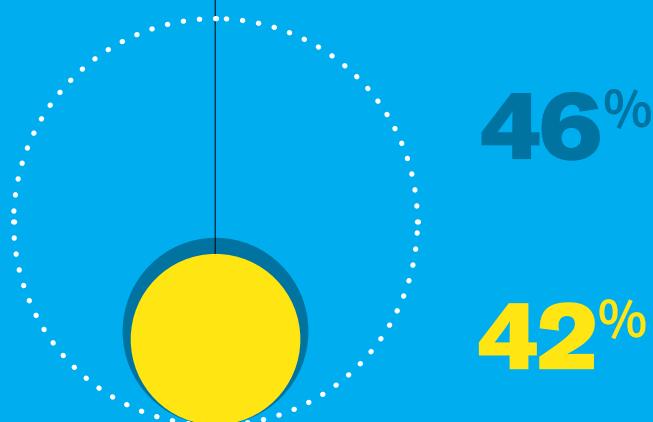

Diversity training and educational programs are often essential to employee onboarding processes as well as managerial and leadership trainings. Practically speaking "sexual orientation" and "gender identity" workplace protections are not self-evident in concept and do not enjoy a history of federal guidance as other categories do. Most employees need some direction as to what these policies mean in their workplaces with regard to employee expectations. In addition, training and educational programs are key platforms for employers to show alignment in their business values around inclusion with broader business objectives such as reaching diverse market shares, attracting talent and more.

Trainings may be in-person or web-based modules; credit is given to employers that include definitions or scenarios of how "sexual orientation" and "gender identity" are included in the employer's non-discrimination policy as discrete subjects within broader trainings or as standalone trainings.

While some employers meet this requirement with basic new-hire training (80 percent of all employers), others have developed fully integrated diversity and inclusion programs that combine lessons on diversity with other trainings that are skills or policy-based. For example, a training focused on the professional development of new managers may cover a range of topics including job-related software skills, ethics training, and organizational values with respect to promoting diversity and inclusion. Sixty percent of this year's rated businesses indicated that they offer such integrated training programs.

Findings	Criterion 3a / 3b
Counting LBGT Employees: Optional Self-Identification Questions	46% of CEI-rated employers offer employees question options to voluntarily disclose their sexual orientation and gender identity on anonymous suveys or confidential HR records. Unlike other diversity categories such as race and gender, employers are not required by law to collect data on the LGBT people they employ. However, in order to track the progress of their own LGBT-inclusion efforts, many employers have implemented optional self-identification questions for employees to select options for their sexual orientation and gender identity, alongside other standard demographic questions. As the business maxim states: "If you can't measure it, you can't manage it" and so hundreds of businesses have started to count their LGBT employees just as they do other diverse work segments in order to evaluate successes and mitigate challenges to talent investment. Anonymous workplace climate surveys can provide valuable information on broader engagement measures and their reach across the LGBT workforce. Currently, forty-six percent of all CEI participants allow employees to voluntarily disclose their sexual orientation and gender identity on anonymous surveys or confidential Human Resource records.
Senior Leadership Metrics of Inclusion	A steadily growing number of top employers include senior leader engagement around the business's diversity and inclusion goals. By holding their senior leaders accountable through senior performance evaluation, these businesses are raising the structural impact and incentives around diversity and inclusion growth. Forty-two percent of CEI-rated employers allow senior leaders to submit LGBT-focused diversity efforts as part of their annual review of contributions to organizational diversity and inclusion goals.

CEI-Rated Employers offer employees question options to voluntarily disclose their sexual orientation and gender identity on anonymous suveys or confidential HR records.

Findings	Organizational Competency
Criterion 3b	<h3>LGBT/Allies Employee Groups and Diversity Councils</h3> Many large employers have formally recognized employee resource groups (also known as an employee network, business resource or affinity groups) for diverse populations of their workforce, including women, people of color, people of varied abilities and LGBT/allied people. These groups' purpose is two-fold: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>● To foster a sense of community and visibility of these diverse populations within a business and</li> <li>● To leverage each unique populations' networks and skills to help accomplish business goals such as market innovation, recruitment and retention of talent.</li> </ul> ERGs are great platforms for leadership opportunities for LGBT and allied employees to better their own work environments. In addition, the reach of many ERGs extends beyond the everyday affairs of an employer to policymaking, representing the employer at professional events and external activities, participating in prospective employee recruitment efforts, mentoring, and other retention-focused programming. Employers usually provide these groups with a budget and access to resources such as meeting rooms and e-mail networks. The groups provide a clear line of communication between employees and management. LGBT/A ERGs empower employees as change agents, and also help to provide a sense of safety and acceptance for LGBT employees within the workplace. Recognizing the differences in businesses rated in the CEI, Criterion 3b can also be met with an organization-wide diversity council or working group with a mission that specifically includes LGBT diversity and inclusion.

88% of CEI-rated employers have an employee resource group or diversity council that includes LGBT and allied employees and programming. Seventy-three percent of all rated employers have employee groups, 26 percent have diversity councils and 19 percent of all rated employers have both.

Findings	Organizational Competency in LGBT Inclusion
The Role of Allies	Employees who do not identify as LGBT themselves, but are invested in equality and workplace inclusion are increasing their numbers within ERG ranks. While ERGs' mission statements are specific to LGBT inclusion, more and more, allies are encouraged to join as membership is not limited to those who are LGBT but open to all supporters of equality. Of those companies with an officially recognized LGBT employee group, 96 percent reported being expressly for LGBT and allied employees. ERGs have embraced allies as members of the full LGBT community, as allies bring their own unique voice and vantage point to workplace equality.
Executive Champions	The profile and impact of an employee resource groups is greatly enhanced by an active executive champion for the group. Ninety-seven percent of employee groups rated in the CEI are sponsored by an executive champion. A majority (59 percent) of executive champions identify as allies, while 38 percent reported being openly LGBT.

Public Commitment

Criterion 4

Businesses That Positively Engage the External LGBT Community

66%

of CEI-rated businesses met the standard of demonstrating at least three efforts of public commitment to the LGBT community – marketing, advertising and recruitment efforts, philanthropic contributions to LGBT organizations, LGBT diverse supplier initiatives and public policy weigh-in – AND have inclusive philanthropic giving guidelines.

Promoting Business Growth Through Visibility: Respectful Advertising & Talent Recruiting Efforts

Whether it's investing in talent recruitment efforts at LGBT-focused job fairs or communicating inclusion to the community at large through philanthropic contributions and public policy weigh in, historically, public commitment on the CEI has been measured through a number of individual engagements, namely through marketing, advertising and recruitment efforts, philanthropic contributions, LGBT supplier diversity and public policy weigh-in. Additionally, the CEI includes a set of standards around foundational giving to fully align a business's actions with its core values and to raise the bar for corporate social responsibility.

Professional events such as the annual Out & Equal Workplace Summit, Lavender Law conference and Reaching Out MBA career expo are filled with highly rated CEI employers looking to attract diverse employees. Employers' presence at these and other events sends a clear message to potential employees that LGBT diversity is part of company culture, and that LGBT candidates are valued as the best and the brightest across industries, geographies and trades.

Ad campaigns and sponsorships further this message of company values to the public. Increasingly, ads with authentic images of LGBT people are featured in both LGBT media outlets and general press alike.

Supporting the LGBT Community: Philanthropy

Corporate philanthropic activities ranging from financial support to in-kind donations of products or services can bolster a business's profile in the LGBT community. Corporate giving to organizations promoting LGBT health, education or political efforts further demonstrates this commitment to broader LGBT equality. Typically, these efforts have a strategic connection to the core mission of a business, such as a law firm's pro bono legal support of organizations tasked with direct legal representation of LGBT individuals.

Corporate Giving Guidelines

The Corporate Equality Index has a systematic tradition of holding companies accountable for what kinds of organizations receive their philanthropic dollars. Currently, the CEI already has a mechanism to account for foundational corporate giving to any organization whose explicit mission included efforts to undermine LGBT equality. This framework was widened last year to hold companies accountable for any giving to a non-religious organization with an explicit policy of discrimination against LGBT people. This requirement sets the standards around responsible foundational giving and ensures that a top rated business does not provide philanthropic support to organizations whose values do not align with theirs.

Findings	Public Commitment
	The requirement is that a top-rated business must implement internal requirements prohibiting company or law firm philanthropic giving to non-religious organizations that have a written policy of discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation and gender identity or have a policy explicitly permitting its own chapters, affiliates, etc. to discriminate.
Supplier Chain Management: Promoting Effective Business and Inclusion	Supplier diversity programs ensure that the procurement process includes specific opportunities for minority-owned businesses, including women-owned, veteran-owned and, more recently, LGBT-owned businesses. Supplier diversity initiatives have existed in the business community for at least three decades, going back to the inception of such groups as the National Association of Women Business Owners and the National Minority Business Council, both founded in the early 1970s to promote the inclusion of these under-utilized entrepreneurial groups. Furthermore, there are federal initiatives such as the Center for Veterans Enterprise that is designed to assist U.S. veterans in launching and thriving in private business. These initiatives intend to give more equitable opportunities to those would-be small business owners who are more likely to face social and practical barriers to success.
	The National Gay and Lesbian Chamber of Commerce began certifying LGBT-owned small businesses in 2002, a process that requires substantiation of majority LGBT ownership in a business and verification of a business' good standing in the community. Supplier diversity initiatives are a win-win relationship for both the LGBT-owned small businesses and the businesses that contract them. By courting LGBT-owned businesses, more than one-third of this year's rated companies and law firms demonstrated their commitment to LGBT inclusion and now reap the benefits of working with businesses in the diverse communities in which they operate. Over the last five years, the rates of corporate engagement on matters of LGBT-relevant public policy and legal matters have skyrocketed. In the spring of 2016, nearly 200 anti-LGBT bills proliferated across the states. In turn, businesses spoke out and rebuked these attempts to undermine LGBT civil rights at record rates. Leadership demonstrated by these businesses, including in states like North Carolina, which saw the adoption of the discriminatory HB2 law, reflect more than a decade of work inside these companies to expand LGBT, and particularly transgender, workplace equality. Over 200 business leaders signed on to a public letter rebuking HB2. State lawmakers that introduced anti-LGBT bills from South Dakota to Mississippi heard from dozens of businesses standing against these bills both on principle and because they impede investment growth and talent mobility. HRC's Business Coalition for Equality is a group of over 80 leading U.S. employers that support the Equality Act, a federal legislation that would provide the same basic protections to LGBT people as are provided to other protected groups under federal law. CEI-rated employers have supported broader issues of LGBT equality both through the courts, and at the federal and municipal level, going on record that equality is good for business.
